'Huge volume' of cab patrons hit busy tone

'Seamless system.'
Broker introducing
pricey dispatch
improvements

When Telus workers dug into the inner workings of Checker Yellow Cabs phone dispatch system last year, company president Kurt Enders admits he was alarmed with what they found.

It was a busy Christmas night with many Calgary revelers seeking a ride home. But 10,000 prospective customers per hour were met with the frustrating beep of a "ring busy" signal rather than a dispatcher. "Even Telus said, 'We've never seen this before' — that's a huge volume," he said.

Checker's struggle to meet demand doesn't appear to be isolated either. Tara Villa says she worked the phones for Mayfair Taxi for six months starting in the fall of 2012.

"I left out of pure frustration, because you can have 40 people in line wanting a cab, and you have all these cabs available but only one person to answer the phone," she said. "It's very true that the bottleneck is at the call centre."

Mayfair's president didn't return calls for comment.

Marc Halat, the city's chief livery officer, said the general feedback from brokers is that 10,000 is an estimate on the number of patrons left stranded during the busy peak hours on Friday or Saturday nights. He's now begun active discussions about how to revamp phone systems, noting that some customers may be even more frustrated with uncertainty of when their call will be answered — and subsequently when they'll be picked up — than the general perceived shortage of cabs working Calgary streets.

"We can't leave customers hanging," he said.

Enders at Checker appears primed to be the first in the city to roll out a futuristic dispatch system. The new centrepiece of his operation, which he hopes to have running in time for the Calgary Stampede, sees the busy tone replaced with an automated message informing patrons of the wait to reach a dispatcher.

He's also introducing eight virtual call-takers and may outsource the human workers from the Philippines.

'It tears us apart': Residents being ousted from trailer park

Notice served. Midfield Mobile Home Park in northeast to close in September 2017

bryan.weismiller@metronews.ca

Three generations of Eunice Knelson's family currently call a northeast trailer park home — but it won't be for a fourth.

The City of Calgary declared Tuesday that it's closing Midfield Mobile Home Park at the end of September 2017, forcing hundreds of tenants to find new digs.

For the elder Knelson, it likely means moving away from good friends, family and the rest of the community she's called home for nearly a decade.

"It tears us apart," she said, only hours after being notified of the closure in a letter.

Overlooking the picturesque Nose Creek valley for nearly half a century, Midfield has been home to Calgarians running the gamut from young families to oil-patch workers to snowbirds needing a place to crash in the summer.

However, the city-owned trailer park has been plagued by water and sewer problems for at least as long as Knelson has lived there. The aging underground utility lines are a headache to fix because they sit directly below the trailers instead of city streets.

Moving plans have long garnered headlines.

"People don't even know we're here until something like this breaks," Knelson said of the closure notice.

Mayor Naheed Nenshi described it as a "difficult decision" that weighed heavily on city council.

"We know it's never easy to go through change like this, but we will make sure that the city provides the services and support tenants need," Nenshi said in a statement.

He also noted Midfield residents would be given a compensation package.

City officials have offered up to 173 eligible tenants a cheque for $10,000 and up to the same amount for moving costs.

Counselling services will also be offered to all residents.

The property

Midfield Mobile Home Park is located at 954-16 Ave. NE.

- The northeast park was developed by Richfield Development Corporation in 1968 on land leased from the city.
- In 1973, Richfield turned over the operation of the park to the City of Calgary. The Calgary Housing Company has managed the park since 2001.

- Midfield consists of 173 mobile homes, housing roughly 250 people.

Midfield residents Ruth Cousins, two-year-old Tia and pup Daisy are being displaced by a decision to close the city-run trailer park. BRYAN WEISMILLER/METRO

Future uncertain after trailer park closes

While it once touched Calgary's edges, a chunk of now prime inner-city real estate is in limbo with the decision to shutter Midfield Mobile Home Park by the fall of 2017.

Joel Armitage, city director of land servicing and housing, said his office is working with city council on a new deal.

"Part of that may include affordable housing, part of it may include all sorts of different housing types and different mixed uses," Armitage told reporters.

The future for current occupants also remains uncertain.

The city had spent $26 million to purchase the new plot of land south of 16 Avenue off 84 Street NE for Midfield residents, but that idea has been halted.

Area Coun. Gian-Carlo Carra said those plans kept "a number" of private developers at bay.

"I'm confident that — if the city isn't going to attempt to build the biggest mobile home (park) that's ever been built — there will be private market solutions that are able to come to market within the next three years."

Midfield resident Norma Crump recalls Calgary's residential vacancy rate being "pretty much nil" when she moved into the northeast trailer park 16 years ago.

And while industry figures peg that figure close to one per cent now, Mayor Naheed Nenshi has suggested the post-flood market is actually tighter.

With that in mind, Crump says she has no idea where she'll go — especially with her pooch in tow. Describing her as a "second-class citizen" in light of the closure, Crump took aim at the powers-that-be.

"They don't care," Crump said. "When it comes election time maybe I won't care."

Carra shot down any suggestions the Midfield decision was a "real-estate play," saying the park clearly wasn't worth the upkeep.

Crumbling brick wall coming down

Crews began tearing down the east façade of the building at 608-7 St. SW Tuesday in what the city's chief building official described as a "controlled demolition" of the failing brick wall. The area immediately below remains cordoned off and closed to the public. Bricks first started falling from the wall last week and another large cascade came down on Sunday, prompting the decision to strip all the bricks. ROBSON FLETCHER/METRO

Victim, attackers sought after sex assault, robbery

Calgary police are seeking assistance after a robbery and sexual assault over the weekend.

According to police, around 2:30 p.m. on Sunday a woman in her 20s was walking northbound in the 1000 block of Macleod Trail South when she was approached by five men.

An altercation broke out. She was knocked to the ground and then sexually assaulted, police said.

The victim was taken to hospital but fled before police had an opportunity to question her fully.

Investigators now hope she will get in touch with them again.

Two of the men are described as being white and about 35 years old. One sported a grey beard while the other had distinctive blue eyes.

Anyone with information is asked to contact Crime Stoppers or 403-266-1234.

Councillors aim to legalize secondary suites in city's inner wards

Notice of motion. Proposal calls for report in fall and new bylaw by March 2015

ROBSON FLETCHER
robson.fletcher@metronews.ca

Four inner-city councillors are launching a new bid to legalize secondary suites throughout their own wards and near transit in the rest of Calgary.

Coun. Druh Farrell plans to introduce a motion at the June 9 council meeting calling for secondary suites to be generally permitted in her own Ward 7, as well as in Wards 8, 9 and 11, and within 600 metres of "major transit routes" in other parts of the city.

"It's a compromise, but it certainly addresses a good portion of Calgary," Farrell said Tuesday.

The motion is also supported by Couns. Gian-Carlo Carra, Evan Woolley and Brian Pincott, who represent the other three wards in question.

Numerous attempts in years past to ease Calgary's restrictive zoning laws surrounding secondary suites have been rejected by council, in large part because the idea is unpopular in many suburban communities.

Pincott, however, said this time could be different because the proposed changes would apply to a limited geographic area and perhaps bypass the "urban vs. suburban" split.

"What it does for council members who have typically voted against secondary suites for whatever reason, is it takes the risk away from them," he said.

Derek Podlubny, who lives in Ward 1 but owns a rental property in Ward 8, would welcome the change.

The home he rents out includes a currently illegal secondary suite, one he said he's invested heavily in "to make sure it's safe and livable," but the city may now force him to strip out the separate kitchen due to the area's zoning.

"I would like to make mine legal, but in this pre-historic city the only way to do it is to pay $9,000 for a (rezoning) application and then $2,000 for advertising that application," he said.

Even then, he added, "it's not a sure thing" since council may reject the application.

Farrell said 11 secondary-suite applications are due up at the next council meeting.

42 Avenue. Another fire hits roofing company

Firefighters fought a blaze in a familiar locale Tuesday, snuffing flames at a south-east Calgary roofing manufacturer.

Fire crews responded to a blaze at IKO industries in the 1600 block of 42 Avenue SE on Tuesday afternoon after multiple reports of a fire.

A large container used to store asphalt had caught on fire and crews were able to quickly bring the flames under control.

No injuries were reported.

On March 11, fire crews were called to a three-alarm fire at the facility.

Officials are still investigating the cause of Tuesday's fire. METRO

Calgary Transit is asking city riders if they'd like to see bus service changes to route No. 94 in Signal Hill, which would affect surrounding communities. BRYAN WEISMILLER/METRO

Councillor won't put brakes on bus racket

Complaints. Pootmans says only a 'small minority' bemoaning noise associated with increased bus service in Signal Hill

bryan.weismiller@metronews.ca

The rumbling diesel engines and mechanical hisses of Calgary Transit buses are music to the ears of west-side Coun. Richard Pootmans.

In opposition to the "small minority" bemoaning the increased noise associated with extra bus service post-West LRT, Pootmans says he'd like to see even more buses ferrying his constituents to the CTrain.

"The bottom line is that we spent well over a billion dollars to bring LRT service to Ward 6," he said. "As traffic congestion continues to increase — and will increase — (transit) is part of the solution and not part of the problem."

Pootmans' comments come as Calgary Transit explores the possibility of altering bus service in the Signal Hill area after some residents complained.

Two open houses were held this week to test the waters on tweaking route No. 94 as well as the under-used No. 412, which both sprang up after the west leg of the CTrain opened in December 2012.

Pootmans noted smaller, quieter buses operate on off-peak times during the week and weekends.

The Ward 6 councillor also noted his office received just as many complaints when transit officials experimented with moving a similar route in Signal Hill last winter.

"Making the majority of people happy at this point is going to be an ongoing challenge with the 94," he said.

3 options for route No. 94

- Option A: Remove service from Sienna Park Drive and shift it to 69th Street SW. This would add five minutes from Signal Hill to Westhills shopping centre.
- Option B: Transit service would be cut off in a section to the west of Westhills, and Signal Hill residents would lose direct access to the shopping district. Routes No. 456 and No. 94 would be combined in the more northerly community of Strathcona.
- Option C: Route No. 94 would bypass Signal Hill in what's billed the most radical change. Springbank Hill residents would lose direct access to Westhills.

Cory Miller lost many things when floodwaters filled the basement of her century-old home last June, but her 1906 boiler wasn't one of them.

"That's my pride and joy — my furnace," the Elbow Park resident said Tuesday. "I fought very hard to preserve it."

The iron behemoth was originally designed for use on a ship and has since been converted to burn natural gas instead of coal. It was completely submerged by nearly two metres of water last summer, but Miller said it now "works perfectly" after being restored.

"It's up and going and it'll be good for another 100 years," she said. "It's not designed to be obsolete. It's a work of art."

Efforts like this to preserve physical links to the past deserve extra recognition this year, said city heritage planner Clint Robertson, which is why the Calgary Heritage Authority has created a special, post-flood subcategory of its biennial Lion Awards for heritage conservation.

Owners of heritage properties faced numerous unique challenges when dealing with flood damage, said heritage authority chair Scott Jolliffe.

Miller's home, built in 1912 and designated as a municipal historic resource in 2013, is a perfect example.

"The sandstone foundation was actually saturated with water, so to come in here with fans and heaters and things like that to try and dry it out quickly could have irreversibly damaged the foundation," Jolliffe said.

"We want to recognize those property owners that have made an exceptional or special effort — gone the extra mile — and I think Cory is a perfect example of that with her boiler restoration against all odds, and the advice of many."

Groupie granny goes Gaga

Inez Whitfield got the thrill of a lifetime when she was called backstage to meet pop music superstar Lady Gaga after a concert Monday night.

Dubbed "Granny Gaga" because of her fondness for the singer, the retired teacher had planned months ago to attend her second Gaga show.

Her daughter Kendra said her mother has been a fan of Gaga's since seeing the singer on the Oprah Winfrey show years ago.

"She knows good music when she hears it and she loves what Gaga stands for ... being creative and outrageous and not giving a flying fig what anyone thinks of you," Whitfield's daughter said.

As Kendra wheeled her mother out of the arena to a cab before the encore, two security guards chased them down and took them backstage for an audience with the megastar.

They posed for some photos and Gaga gave them some cash to pay for their cab ride home.

Gaga later posted a photo on her Instagram page — Whitfield in her sparkly silver dress, feather boa and

Immunizations

Leduc school board OK's HPV vaccine

Eight years after the vaccine was first brought to Canada, the last of Alberta's 10 resisting school districts has OK'd the delivery of immunizations for human papillomavirus (HPV) to its students.

HPV Canada's Juliet Guichon said the decision from last week's St. Thomas Aquinas Roman Catholic School board meeting is a relief.

"It means all children, rich and poor, will have easy access for a public health program to which their parents have consented," Guichon said.

Canada first approved the vaccine in 2006 and purchased the drug for $300 million in 2007. Since that time, provinces have had access to the vaccine and in 2008 Alberta rolled out the vaccination program.

Lelise Ejeta is hoping time at SAIT could one day lead to a flourishing professional career in Calgary.

"I am here to get some information for my future," said Ejeta, who is originally from Ethiopia and has been living in Canada for four years.

"I know the centre is a source of knowledge to learning English and several kinds of courses."

Discovery Day, which is hosted by the English Language Foundations, is meant to give new Canadians the basics of post-secondary education and aid them in choosing educational courses and career paths.

Information on the variety of courses offered by SAIT was displayed in Heritage Hall on SAIT Campus, and counsellors were on site to offer one-on-one help and advice.

Many of the people attending believe that the information they were getting is important for their future in Canada.

"There are lots of programs, lots of language programs I can apply to. There is lots of information that we need to know," said Zhen Hung, another person attending Discovery Day.

This is Discovery Day's second year at SAIT.

"This event is designed to be accessible and welcoming to accommodate new Canadians with whatever they may need to continue their education," said Pamela Heath, manager of SAIT's English Language Foundations program.

"Some are looking to continue on in their profession from their home country, while others are looking at a new direction. SAIT is a nice bridge between where they are now and where they want to be."

Parents grateful after spread of Amber Alert on social media leads online sleuths to help locate missing baby

The mother of a day-old infant snatched from a Quebec hospital says she's grateful to everyone who helped bring home her baby — especially the group of people who used social media to hunt down the alleged kidnapper.

Police issued an Amber Alert on Monday night after the newborn was abducted from the mother's hospital room in Trois-Rivières by a woman allegedly wearing scrubs and posing as a nurse.

The alert, which included a photo of the suspect, was splashed across mainstream and social media within min-

Four young locals wasted little time picking up the cause and guided police to the woman's home, where officers found the baby safe three hours later. Police also arrested a woman in her early 20s in connection with the kidnapping.

"Every click, every share made the difference," Melissa McMahon, the infant's mother, wrote Tuesday in a post on her Facebook page.

"Four marvellous people, whom we had the chance to meet, identified this woman thanks to Facebook ... We felt a huge amount of support from the public. This victory is for you, too!!!"

The online detectives who helped find baby Victoria were identified as Charlene Plante, Marc-Andre Cote, Sharelle Bergeron and Melizanne Bergeron.

Melizanne Bergeron told reporters Tuesday in Trois-Rivières that she came across the information about the kidnapping on Facebook and showed the photo of the suspect to her friend Plante, who realized the woman was her neighbour.

She said they spotted the vehicle described in the alert parked outside the building, saw signs that someone was inside and called police. Officers, she added, arrived on the scene quickly and broke down the woman's door.

Pregnant woman stoned to death

'Honour killing,' 20 members of woman's family attack couple outside court in Lahore

A pregnant woman was stoned to death by her own family in front of a Pakistani high court on Tuesday for marrying the man she loved.

Nearly 20 members of the woman's family, including her father and brothers, attacked her and her husband with batons and bricks in broad daylight before a crowd of onlookers in front of the high court of Lahore, police investigator Rana Mujahid said.

Hundreds of women are murdered every year in Muslim-majority Pakistan in so-called "honour killings" carried out by husbands or relatives as a punishment for alleged adultery or other illicit sexual behaviour, but public stoning is extremely rare.

Quoted

"We were in love."

Mohammad Iqbal, husband of Farzana Parveen

Mujahid said the woman's father has been arrested for murder and that police were working to apprehend all those who participated in the "heinous crime."

Another police officer, Naseem Butt, identified the slain woman as Farzana Parveen, 25, and said she had married Mohammad Iqbal against her family's wishes after being engaged to him for years.

Her father, Mohammad Azeem, had filed an abduction case against Iqbal, which the couple was contesting, her lawyer Mustafa Kharal said.

He confirmed that she was three months' pregnant.

Arranged marriages are the norm among conservative Pakistanis, who view marriage for love as a transgression.

But even Pakistanis who have tracked violence against women expressed shock at the brutal and public nature of Tuesday's slaying.

"I have not heard of any such case in which a woman was stoned to death, and the most shameful and worrying thing is that this woman was killed in front of a court," said Zia Awan, a prominent lawyer and human rights activist.

Parveen's relatives had waited outside the court, which is located on a main downtown thoroughfare.

As the couple walked up to the main gate, the family members fired shots in the air and tried to snatch her from Iqbal, her lawyer said.

When she resisted, her father, brothers and other relatives started beating her, eventually pelting her with bricks from a nearby construction site, Iqbal said.

Poachers tracked. Ranger fatally shot in Zambia wildlife preserve

A suspected poacher fatally shot the head of law enforcement at a wildlife park in Zambia after he set out to investigate reports of gunshots in the reserve, said a group that runs African wildlife parks.

Dexter Chilunda is believed to have come across two poachers during his patrol in Liuwa Plain National Park and he was shot in the chest at close range with a shotgun, the non-profit African Parks group said Monday.

Police and park rangers followed tracks leading from the site of the shooting on Friday and were pursuing leads they hoped would bring them to the culprits, said African Parks, which operates seven national parks in six countries.

Park managers had planned to airlift critically injured Chilunda to Livingstone town in southern Zambia, and then to a hospital in Johannesburg. But the father of four was pronounced dead in the Liuwa Plain park.

Anthony Hall-Martin, the co-founder and conservation director of Johannesburg-based African Parks, died May 21 of cancer at the age of 68. Hall-Martin had helped establish and expand reserves while working for South Africa's national parks service, and later negotiated with dozens of African governments to protect wildlife areas, according to African Parks.

The group said Hall-Martin led the transformation of Malawi's Majete wildlife reserve, which had been depleted by poachers, into an area stocked with more than 2,500 animals, including elephant, black rhinoceros, lion and leopard. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Do you know why a mortgage document is so big?

It's because there's a lot more in it than just the rate.

Why lowest isn't always best.

Don't get us wrong. A low rate is great. But most low rate mortgages come with restrictive terms that could keep you in your mortgage longer than you'd like. Which means paying interest longer than you'd like. So, instead of thinking about the cost of your mortgage in rate terms, think about it in dollar terms. For example, how much interest will you pay over the life of your mortgage?

How restrictive terms cost you in the end.

The key to saving interest costs is having the flexibility to increase payments or make extra payments. With rates as low as they are, regular lump sum and increased payments will save you more interest over the life of your mortgage. Even more than switching to bi-weekly payments!†

Good advice is worth its weight in gold.

Locking in at today's low rates might be right for you. But keep in mind that small changes can make a big difference in helping you become mortgage-free faster so keeping that flexibility is essential.

So how can we offer a rate this low with the benefits you want?

Since we refuse to overload our mortgages with restrictions and we insist on giving people competitively low rates, the only way we can do it is for a limited time.

SPECIAL OFFER MORTGAGE RATE

As of May 22nd, 2014, if there are no 'cost of borrowing' charges (for example, appraisal fees), the APR for the rate of 2.97% equals 2.95% (compounded semi-annually, not in advance). Where a typical appraisal fee of $300 is assumed (actual appraisal fees may vary), the APR equals 3.02% (compounded semi-annually, not in advance), for a term of 5 years – assuming a mortgage of $100,000 with a 25-year amortization. Scotia Flex Value® Mortgage Special – Scotiabank Prime as of September 9, 2010 was 3.00%. As of May 22nd, 2014, the Scotia Flex Value® Mortgage – Closed 5 Year Term was 2.47%. If there are no 'cost of borrowing' charges (for example, appraisal fees), the APR for the rate of 2.47% equals 2.46% (compounded semi-annually, not in advance). Where a typical appraisal fee of $300 is assumed (actual appraisal fees may vary), the APR equals 2.52% (compounded semi-annually, not in advance), for a term of 5 years – assuming a mortgage of $100,000 with a 25-year amortization. The Scotia Flex Value® Mortgage interest rate varies with Scotiabank Prime. These offers expire June 7th, 2014 but are subject to change or withdrawal at any time. The mortgage must be funded within 90 days of the application date. Other conditions may apply.

† Assuming a mortgage of $270,000 with a 25-year amortization at a rate of 2.97%, switching to bi-weekly payments will decrease your amortization to less than 23 years and save you approximately $14,130 in interest. Alternatively, assuming the same mortgage of $270,000 with a 25-year amortization at a rate of 2.97%, if you keep your monthly payment frequency but apply annual lump sum prepayments of $500 and increase your regular payments by just $20 every year, after your first year, you will decrease your amortization to less than 21 years and save approximately $18,923 in interest.

Top brass says sexual harassment not a part of military culture

Commons defence committee. Commander grilled after damning magazine story says assault at epidemic level

The country's top military commander has been called on the parliamentary carpet to answer questions about reports of sexual violence in the military.

Gen. Tom Lawson, the chief of defence staff, was grilled Tuesday by the Commons defence committee about a recent magazine report that claimed sex assaults within the ranks are at an epidemic level.

The story, published by Maclean's and L'actualité magazines, interviewed several victims and examined a decade's worth of statistics documenting reported attacks.

Lawson told the committee he found the allegations disturbing, and acknowledged the courage of those victims who spoke out.

An internal review carried out since the claims were first reported last month has identified "some barriers" that prevent alleged victims from coming forward, he testified.

Lawson said an independent review from outside the military is being organized, one that will have the authority to interview military members and could potentially uncover fresh allegations of assault.

The exposé

The magazine story said military police get as many as 200 complaints of sexual assault each year, with many more cases going unreported by victims who fear the potential consequences from within the military hierarchy.

But he said he does not accept the notion that sexual violence and harassment are part of military culture, citing a recent internal survey that suggested harassment of all kinds has been declining steadily over the last decade.

Lawson said only a small percentage of those who took part in the 2012 survey said they've faced harassment, but he conceded the numbers are higher when the results are parsed by gender.

"I think there is an under-reporting going on," Lawson said, "and we need to do everything we can to deal with any issues that stand in the way of someone coming forward."

But defence critic Jack Harris didn't buy those assurances, saying that the issue has resurfaced time and again since a similar media exposé was written in the late 1990s.

"As a Canadian I'm more than concerned and disturbed," said Harris. National Defence is three years behind in reporting criminal statistics within the military to Parliament, he added.

Dream of owning a home? Keep dreaming

RBC study. Ownership seeming more like a fantasy as reality of high prices and bound-to-rise interest rates hits home

It's becoming increasingly difficult for families to own a home in Canada and affordability is only expected to get worse going forward, according to the Royal Bank of Canada.

With house prices continuing to rise, RBC said its affordability index deteriorated in the first quarter of this year — the third quarter that has happened out of the last four — with the deterioration particularly acute in the hot markets of Toronto, Calgary and Vancouver.

And RBC chief economist Craig Wright says keeping up with the cost of home ownership in the future is likely going to be an even bigger stretch for households.

"If prices continue to accel-

Home! Sweet (pricey) home!

Nationally, the index rose by 0.1 point to 43.2 per cent for detached bungalows and 0.3 points to 49.0 per cent for two-storey homes, while the measure for condos dipped 0.1 point to 27.9 per cent.

- But that was an average calculation. Vancouver's affordability index rose 0.9 points to 82.4 per cent; Toronto's by 0.2 points to 56.1 and Calgary's by 0.9 points to 34.5.

erate in key Canadian markets in the near term, affordability could come under pressure," the report points out.

"The eventual normalization of monetary policy (interest rates) will lead to substantial increases in interest rates over the medium term, which could be too much for other affordability determinants to counteract," it adds.

The affordability index measures the percentage of pre-tax household income that is needed to service the cost of owning a home at current market prices, including payments for a mortgage, utilities and property taxes. A reading of 50 per cent means service costs swallow up half of a household's pre-tax income.

The affordability measure has more relevance to newer home buyers since the vast majority of Canadians will have bought their homes in the past, when prices were lower.

Meanwhile, RBC said the erosion in affordability does not pose any immediate threat to the health of the Canadian housing market and that the Bank of Canada is not expected to begin nudging interest rates higher until the middle of 2015. Many economists don't expect the bank to act until 2016. THE CANADIAN PRESS

WORKPLACE GIVERS GET ALL THE LOVE

Never mind butcher, baker or candlestick maker.

The people who float your workplace boat these days are takers, matchers and givers, according to a rising star in workaday psychology, Adam Grant, the youngest full professor at the Wharton School.

This guy is only 32, but he's already figured out how to navigate the concrete jungle and has written a New York Times bestseller about it, called, naturally, Give and Take. He's also the subject of a recent article in Slate.

Even though Grant has the fast-track record we usually associate with a taker — those Gordon-Gecko-greed-is-good types so familiar in the mythology of corporate America — he tries to be a giver, not just because his research shows that nice guys (and girls) can finish first.

Givers are defined by the fact that they will take care of

JUST SAYIN'
Paul Sullivan
metronews.ca

other people with no expectation of reward. They do it precisely because they are selfless. So you can't game the give.

Most of us are matchers in the middle — I'll scratch your back with the understanding that you, at some point very soon, will scratch mine. Other people respect the matcher ethos, but no one actually loves a matcher, unless it's the matcher's mother, who is, by nature, a giver.

All the love is reserved for givers. Givers sow the seeds of harmony wherever they go. People want to work with them because they trust them ... and know they'll share the glory and take the blame.

Do you know anybody like that? If you do, you probably follow them around with big puppy eyes.

Takers are toxic. Grant says it's a good idea to keep a wooden stake, silver bullet and string of garlic handy to ward them off. Well, he doesn't put it in precisely those terms, but he does say that the negative impact of a taker can be three times that of the positive impact of a giver.

They suck the lifeblood out of an organization.

There is an easy way to spot a taker and it's not only because he or she doesn't drink ... wine. "The main sign that someone's a taker is kissing up and kicking down," he writes.

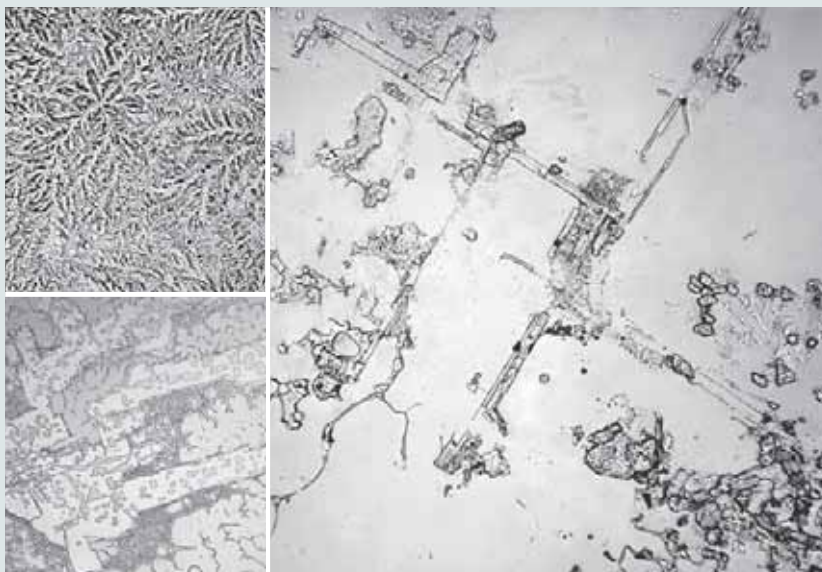

Just because you're a giver doesn't mean you put a Kick Me sign on your back before you go to work in the morning. Winning givers don't allow themselves to be kicked or stepped on; they don't overdo the giving to the detriment of their own work, and they give on a smartly scheduled basis as opposed to on impulse or whim.

Whatever you think (stop rolling your eyes), I think it's good to have permission to be a nice person. It's ironic to discover that while we've spent our lives learning to eat other dogs, happiness is a warm puppy.

And if you're a little bit good at being good, the rewards will come in your lifetime. Good dog!

Art that's worth crying over

Q&A

'Aerial view of my emotions'

ROSE-LYNN FISHER
Artist-photographer based in Los Angeles

What inspired you to turn human tears into art?

One day I was crying but stopped and wondered if my tears of grief would look any different from tears of happiness. When I magnified them on a microscope, what I saw evoked a sense of place, like an aerial view of my emotional terrain. I was so intrigued by this that I started a project, which now comprises 100 of my own and others' tears.

How did you go about photographing the tears?

I collect a tear, put it onto a glass slide and view it through a standard microscope, magnified 10 to 40 times. After the tear sample has been either air-dried or covered, I photograph it using a digital microscopy camera.

They do look like strange landscapes.

Exactly. I marvel at the visual similarities between the microscopic world and the macro world of landscapes. Patterns of erosion etched into the earth over millions of years can look like the branched crystalline patterns of an evaporated tear that formed in less than a minute.

Worth mentioning. USDA projects to help protect soil, water quality

The U.S. Department of Agriculture is teaming with businesses, non-profits and others on a five-year, $2.4-billion program that will fund locally designed soil and water conservation projects nationwide, Secretary Tom Vilsack said Tuesday.

Authorized by the new farm law enacted earlier this year, the Regional Conservation Partnership Program is intended to involve the private sector more directly in planning and funding environmental protection initiatives tied to agriculture.

He described the projects to be funded as "clean water startup operations" that will benefit communities and watersheds, a departure from the department's more traditional approach of focusing on individual operators adopting practices such as no-till cultivation or planting buffer strips to prevent runoff into streams.

Universities, local and tribal governments, companies and sporting groups are among those eligible to devise plans and seek grants.

"By establishing new public-private partnerships, we can have an impact that's well beyond what the federal government could accomplish on its own," Vilsack said. "These efforts keep our land resilient and water clean, and promote tremendous economic growth in agriculture, construction, tourism and outdoor recreation and other industries."

In addition to protecting the environment, the projects will bolster the rural economy by supporting tourism and outdoor recreation jobs while avoiding pollution that would cost more to clean up, he said.

The USDA will spend $1.2 billion — including $400 million the first year — and raise an equal amount from participants. Successful applications will include offers of cash, labour or other contributions, as well as plans for achieving measurable solutions and using new approaches, said Jason Weller, chief of the Natural Resources Conservation Service. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bold child's play

Angelina Jolie all in as villain

Angelina Jolie taking on the title role in Maleficent, telling the story of Sleeping Beauty from the villain's perspective, might have seemed like a no-brainer, but Jolie herself had her doubts. "I was a bit nervous to take her on. I don't have a big theatre voice. I don't do things that are kind of comedic. This is such a crazy idea. I'm a fairy? 'How was your day, honey?' 'I was a fairy,'" Jolie remembers telling husband Brad Pitt. "I was so challenged by it. For me as an actress to do something where I'm not taking myself so seriously or doing it for myself or doing it for art — just to remember what it is to play and entertain and try something bold."

But once she had the horns and the head-dress and the augmented cheekbones and nose in place, she just went with it. "There's no halfway. If you're going to do it, you can't just kind of do it. You have to go fully into it and enjoy it," she says. "The original was done so well and her voice was so great. The way she was animated was so perfect. If anything, I was worried I'd fail the original. I practised a lot with my children. When I got them laughing, I figured I was on to something — well, they laughed, they cried." NED EHRBAR/MWN IN HOLLYWOOD

It's not all Mouse ears. Disney horns in on the dark side of fairy tales from the winged demon of Fantasia to Maleficent

IN FOCUS
Richard Crouse
scene@metronews.ca

Hear the name Disney, and your first thoughts are likely about Mickey Mouse ears, Mary Poppins or the song Let it Go. Uplifting notions born from a company that brags it owns the Happiest Place on Earth.

But for all the cheery feelings the Mouse House has given us over the years, Disney villains have also inspired a nightmare or two.

This weekend, Maleficent creeps into theatres. Starring Angelina Jolie, it is the story of how the Sleeping Beauty villainess became evil after being betrayed by a child. With plumped up cheekbones and headgear with demonic horns, Jolie looks like something from a hellish Hieronymus Bosch painting.

"She isn't the pretty princess," says the actress. "She isn't a beautiful queen. She's a very awkward, pointy, slightly scary-looking horned creature who goes through a lot in her life."

Maleficent joins a long list of dastardly Disney villains to inspire sleepless nights.

Scar

In The Lion King, Scar (voice of Jeremy Irons) is the brother of the king, Mufasa (James Earl Jones). In a Shakespearean twist, Scar murders his brother and banishes his nephew to gain control of Pride Rock.

Most evil line? "Long live the King." — Scar to Mufasa before killing him.

Cruella De Vil

In the 1961 animated film and the 1996 live-action film, 101 Dalmatians, Cruella De Vil (voice of Betty Lou Gerson in the cartoon, Glenn Close in the flesh) is a diabolical fashionista who wants to incorporate puppy pelts into her wardrobe.

Most evil line? "Darling, I live for fur. I worship fur!"

Queen Grimhilde

Vanity pushes Queen Grimhilde (Lucille La Verne in the 1937 animated version) to try and destroy the life of her stepdaughter (Adriana Caselotti) in Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs. The evil queen can't bear the thought that there is someone more beautiful than she, so she first orders her huntsman to kill Snow White and cut her heart out and when that doesn't work, she feeds the pretty girl a poisoned apple.

Most evil line? "Mirror, Mirror on the wall, who's the fairest of them all?"

Chernabog

Hands down, the scariest vision in any Disney film has to be Chernabog, the winged demon who briefly appears in the Night on Bald Mountain sequence of Fantasia. He is the essence of evil and according to Villains Wiki, his hobby is bringing the dead back to life so he can kill them again.

Discussing the character in an interview, Walt Disney referred to him as Satan.

Most evil line? Chernabog doesn't have any lines. When you're this bad, you don't need dialogue.

Brown University. Emma Watson escorted by armed undercover guard at grad

Emma Watson had an armed guard with her during graduation ceremonies at Brown University, and a university spokesman says he is unable to answer questions about why.

The 24-year-old British actress best known for her role as Hermione Granger in the Harry Potter movies was one of more than 2,000 students to get her degree from the Ivy League university in Providence on Sunday.

She was photographed sitting and walking next to a woman who was wearing a cap and gown. The same woman, who was older than Watson and her fellow graduates, was later seen escorting Watson without a cap and gown and with a holstered weapon, a badge and other equipment.

When asked if the woman was a campus police officer and why the guard was necessary, Brown spokesman Mark Nickel said on Tuesday he was "not able to help."

TV producers seek teens who party like rock stars

A television producer is seeking teenagers as young as 13 who like to make their own rules to participate in a new reality television series, My Teen Life.

A Los Angeles-based casting company, Metal Flowers Media, placed a notice about the series in Backstage, a publication widely followed by entertainment professionals for job leads.

The company said producers of The Real Housewives of New York City are looking for boys and girls ages 13 to 18 to cast.

"Parents, teachers and the haters are always in your business, but it's your life and you live it how you want to," the Backstage ad said. "If you're a modern-day teenage rebel with a hardcore lifestyle, we want to hear your story."

Macaulay's 'pizza band' too cheesy for British audience

It was a Blues Brothers moment for actor Macaulay Culkin and his band Pizza Underground on Sunday at the Dot to Dot Festival in Nottingham, England, when fans turned on the comedy cover group by booing them and even throwing beer onstage.

Unfortunately, Mac couldn't turn it around with a pizza-themed version of Rawhide to get the crowd going; the Home Alone star and the rest of Pizza Underground allegedly walked off stage smelling like booze after only three songs — but not before they performed a cover of Lou Reed's Perfect Day, calling it Pizza Day.

Culkin's band covers Velvet Underground and Lou Reed songs but changes the lyrics around to be about pizza.

Manhattan's got a friend in David Schwimmer

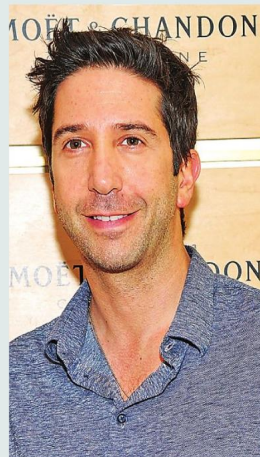

MELINDA TAUB

Metro World News in New York City

David Schwimmer is one of the Friends I'd vaguely lost track of since the series came to an end. Is he the one playing an aging sitcom star on cable? No, that's Lisa Kudrow. Is he the one who's totally over Brad Pitt? That's Jennifer Aniston. Oh, now I remember. David Schwimmer is the one who battles crime.

Well, he fought for justice this week at least. Police were investigating an altercation between a suspected male prostitute, his john, and a third man that broke out at 5:40 a.m. on East Sixth Street in Manhattan's East Village, where the sitcom star owns a brownstone.

The 26-year-old john was taken to Bellevue Hospital with stab wounds on his face, while the 21-year-old alleged prostitute was treated for slashes on his arm. Police had only one man's word against the other's until they realized that security cameras outside Schwimmer's home had caught footage of the altercation, according to the New York Post. Schwimmer gave the NYPD the tape, which might be used in court.

Schwimmer bought his brownstone for $4 million US in 2012, and he's been heavily renovating it ever since, to the consternation of his neighbours. However, this incident might convince the other Sixth Street residents that good Friends make good neighbours after all.

Where the buffalo roam

Yellowstone. This massive, famed park stretches across three states — you need a plan to see it all Old Faithful likely comes to mind when you think of Yellowstone National Park. And it's certainly worth seeing, along with other geysers. But the geysers are just the start of what Yellowstone offers: hiking, biking, camping, fishing, wildlife-spotting and more. Yellowstone National Park covers 8,992 square kilometres over three states — Wyoming, Idaho and Montana.

With stops along the way, it can take two full days to drive the 230-kilometre Grand Loop. Here are some Yellowstone basics, starting with the geysers.

Geysers

Most of the park's easily accessible and most famous geysers are concentrated along a 50-kilometre drive in the middle of the park, from West Thumb, Wyo. to Madison Junction, Wyo. and can be seen in a half-day.

Park visitor centres can provide predicted eruption times for about a half-dozen geysers. Some predictions are in windows of several hours, so you'll likely spend some time waiting. Old Faithful erupts every 60 to 90 minutes. The exact timing depends on the previous eruption, so the park can predict only one eruption at a time.

Several other geysers are within walking distance, including the tiny Anemone erupting every 10 minutes or so. A few more clusters of geysers and hot springs are a short drive north along Grand Loop.

If your timing is right, don't miss the Grand Geyser, the tallest predictable geyser in the world, reaching as high as 60 metres and lasting up to 12 minutes. You might have to wait a few hours, though. The Grand Geyser has been erupting every seven or eight hours.

Hikes

The Divide hike is about 5.6 kilometres round trip and takes you to the Continental Divide, the line where water flows toward the Atlantic from one side and toward the Pacific from the other. There's no sign or any other marker at the top, so you'll have to use your imagination. The park rates the hike as moderately strenuous, given the climb of about 225 metres. Mystic Falls is more scenic. The start of the trail is close to the Biscuit Basin cluster of geysers, so you can get geysers and a hike both out of the way with one stop.

Give yourself at least two hours for the drive from the geysers to Mount Washburn. The trail to the top is well-maintained, but the hike isn't for those out of shape: You'll climb some 427 metres to an elevation of 3,122 metres. There are two ways up: The longer route, from Dunraven Pass, is about five kilometres each way, but it's less steep than the Chittenden Road option. Take the same route down; the parking lots for each trailhead are 10 kilometres apart.

In the distance, you can glimpse Yellowstone's version of Grand Canyon, a gorge formed by the Yellowstone River. There's a fire lookout tower with an observation deck at the top.

Grand Canyon

is worth its own visit. You have several long or short hikes to choose from, along either side of the canyon. If you're pressed for time, drive to the Upper and Lower Falls and view the rapids before a pair of drops into the canyon. For both falls, use paved overlooks or take short hikes for closer views. Visit the Upper Falls in the afternoon for a chance to see rainbows.

Wildlife and driving

Yellowstone is home to bison, moose, elk, bighorn sheep, wolves and grizzly bears. If you're looking to see a certain type of animal, ask at visitor centres where to go and the best time of day. Cars stopped or parked haphazardly along a road usually means there's something worth seeing. You can't miss the bison herds, but for other creatures, you may need binoculars.

Biking and Boating

You can bike along the Grand Loop on your own bike or by renting one near Old Faithful. There are boating and fishing opportunities as well; permits are required.

Getting there and lodging

The Grand Prismatic Spring in Yellowstone National Park.

JIM PEACO/YELLOWSTONE NATIONAL PARK (FLICKR: YELLOWSTONENPS)

The bulk of the park is in northwest Wyoming and has five entrances, with gateway towns offering food and lodging.

The drive from the entrances to the main loop is long, so plan your access point and lodging carefully. There are nine lodges inside the park; consider switching hotels each night to be closer to another part of the park the next morning.

The park has a dozen campgrounds. Seven are first come, first served. Reservations for the others and for the lodges fill up fast.

Nearest airports with car rentals are in Cody and Jackson, Wyoming; Bozeman, Billings and West Yellowstone, Montana; and Idaho Falls, Idaho. If you have time, it may be cheaper to fly to Denver and drive the 885 kilometres to the park via Cody. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

There's no place like home: Workers would rather telecommute than move

Staying on task while staying put. As more employees opt to work remotely, we consider how to do your best from your own nest

MATRIX
TalentEgg.ca

If you're a student, a recent grad, or an entrepreneurial startup type, chances are you're well-versed in working from home, at the library, and in various cafés around town.

In a new study conducted by Ipsos Reid on behalf of the Canadian Employee Relocation Council, researchers found that when it comes to the Canadian employment mobility landscape, more than half of those (55 per cent) who are currently employed would not relocate for a job under any circumstance.

Ask those who consider themselves under-employed and the percentage jumps to 6.5 out of 10. That still leaves a considerable percentage of workers who would greatly prefer to stay put, all things considered.

Remote (but tethered) workdays

Considering these figures, more employees and their companies may need to consider telecommuting options and using mobile technology and broadband connections to enable distributed (rather than co-located) teams.

Good news, then, that re-

Recognize what period of your day requires you to have no distractions, and take steps to secure some silence. ISTOCK search shows part-time and flexible work-from-home strategies, if properly implemented, can have a positive impact for both businesses and staff.

With funding from the National Institutes of Health and Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, sociologists at the University of Minnesota have published a study showing that increased flexibility at work results in wide-ranging benefits.

Those study participants who were allowed to modify when and where they worked experienced fewer family-work conflicts, achieved greater well-being due to a sense of schedule control, and developed a stronger more supportive relationship with their supervisors.

Seeking success in spreading the word

Masters of making things known. Have you considered a career in content marketing?

KAYANI
TalentEgg.ca

With a growing amount of content online, content marketers are in demand now more than ever before.

Content marketing is all about providing valuable information or content to current and potential customers to build relationships, consumer trust, branding, and awareness.

According to HubSpot's 2013 State of Inbound Marketing Report, 60 per cent of firms are already using content marketing somewhere in their overall marketing strategy.

Here are four reasons why you should consider a career in content marketing:

Join a forward-thinking field

Content marketing is still pretty new and it is constantly changing.

Have you got the goods?

Do you need a specific degree or major to pursue a career in content marketing?

- Many of the skills required to work in content marketing are skills you can teach yourself with a little self-guided research.

- A degree background that lets you show off your writing and editing skills (journalism, English, etc.) can help you get started, but it's more important to show enthusiasm and a commitment to continual learning.

As a content marketer, you get to use your creativity to create great content: everything from blogs and videos, to social media contests and infographics. ISTOCK

Companies that use content marketing will see plenty of changes in both marketing methods and technologies in order to innovate new ways of executing content marketing. It's an exciting time to get on board as a content mar-

Use your creative flair

Content marketing is all about finding new ways to market ideas and information.

The end goal? Connect to your audience to get traffic and leads.

Innovate and enjoy variety

Since content marketing is a dynamic field, you'll be able to bring new ideas to work every single day.

No matter where you go to work as a content marketer, you'll work on a variety of different topics — even if they share an overarching focus.

Connect with others and ## network

As a content marketer, you will need to know how to ask the right questions, find news-worthy stories and valuable marketing insights.

Whether it's online or in-person, working in content marketing will connect you with a wide variety of people in your related industry. It's a great way to build your network.

What skills do you need to succeed as a content marketer?

- Writing and editing skills
- Experience with content management software such as WordPress, Drupal and Blogger
- The ability to collaborate across departments and teams

- Previous marketing experience
- Knowledge and good understanding of sales and marketing structure
- Experience with search engine optimization tools such as link-building, Google AdWords and Google Analytics
- Skills in creating video content
- Tech-savvy and experience with all major social media platforms such as Facebook, Twitter, Polyvore, Pinterest, and Instagram

FLASH FOOD

From your fridge to your table in 30 minutes or less

Sometimes the comfort of salad fits the bill for a quick dinner — especially when you can make it in about 10 minutes!

Looking for a new salad for the summer weekends or weeknight meals? This one has fresh lemon flavour and crunch from the spinach.

Pack the tuna mixture separately and then toss it when you need it if you are packing it for lunch or to take away to a friend's.

1. In a large bowl, stir together tuna, beans and red onion. Add lemon rind, juice, broth, oil and pepper; stir until well coated. Stir in spinach and toss until leaves are coated. Divide among 6 plates to serve.

Ingredients

- 2 cans (6 oz/170 g) light tuna in water, drained
- 1 can (19 oz/540 ml) white kidney beans, drained and rinsed
- 1/3 cup (75 ml) finely diced red onion
- 1/2 tsp (2 ml) grated lemon rind
- 2 tbsp (25 ml) lemon juice
- 2 tbsp (25 ml) vegetable or chicken broth
- 2 tsp (10 ml) extra virgin olive oil
- 1/4 tsp (1 ml) freshly ground black pepper
- 8 cups (2 l) lightly packed baby spinach leaves

Colour your soup bowl

This Ginger Chicken and Orzo

Ingredients

- 1 lb (454 g) boneless skinless chicken breasts
- 1 tbsp (15 ml) minced fresh ginger
- 1 tbsp (15 ml) chopped fresh parsley
- 2 cloves garlic, minced
- Pinch freshly ground black pepper
- 2 tsp (10 ml) canola oil
- 1 red bell pepper, chopped
- 1 box (900 ml) sodium reduced chicken broth
- 3/4 cup (175 ml) whole wheat or regular orzo pasta
- 1 cup (250 mL) chopped fresh asparagus

This recipe serves four to six people. EMILY RICHARDS

Soup soup is a perfect start to springtime.

1. Using chef's knife, cut chicken into bite size pieces and place in bowl. Add ginger, parsley, garlic and pepper and toss to coat well.

2. In soup pot or saucepan, heat oil over medium high heat and cook chicken mixture, stirring constantly for 5 minutes. Stir in red pepper to combine.

3. Add broth and bring to boil. Add orzo and asparagus. Simmer 8 minutes or until orzo is tender and chicken is no longer pink inside. EMILY RICHARDS stave off elimination in the NHL Eastern Conference final.

The Rangers, who lead the series 3-2, will have another chance to book a trip to the Stanley Cup final in Game 6 on Thursday night in New York.

Alex Galchenyuk, Tomas Plekanec and Max Pacioretty also scored for Montreal, which outshot the Rangers 28-27.

Derek Stepan, playing with a guard on his helmet to protect a broken jaw suffered from a Brandon Prust hit in Game 3, returned to the lineup to score twice for the Rangers. Chris Kreider had a goal and three assists and Rick Nash also scored.

At 10:41 of the third, Rangers defenceman John Moore was given a major penalty and was ejected for a blindside, open ice hit on Dale Weise that was almost identical to Prust's hit on Stepan.

It was a night of strange bounces and spotty goaltending. Lundqvist was pulled in favour of Cam Talbot after allowing four goals on 19 shots, while Dustin Tokarski stayed in despite allowing four on his first 14. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Royals get good news from young pitcher's MRI exam

Royals pitcher Yordano Ventura will miss his next start after an MRI exam taken Tuesday on his sore right elbow showed no ligament damage.

Ventura, whose 100 m.p.h. fastballs have made him a rising star, was removed from Monday night's loss to Houston with discomfort in his elbow.

He was diagnosed with a mild valgus extension overload, a condition in which the repetitive stress on the elbow can cause pain in the joint. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Westbrook leads OKC with double-double of 40 points, 10 assists

Russell Westbrook had 40 points and 10 assists, and the Oklahoma City Thunder beat the San Antonio Spurs 105-92 on Tuesday night to tie the Western Conference final at two games apiece.

It matched the second-highest playoff point total of Westbrook's career, falling short of the 43 he scored in the 2012 NBA Finals. He also had five rebounds and five steals.

"I think I did all right. Coming out with a win is most important," Westbrook said in a post-game interview with TNT. "I just try to come out and give maximum effort. My teammates ask that of me and that's what I try to do on both ends of the floor."

Kevin Durant added 31 points on 11-for-22 shooting. It was his highest-scoring game of the series after the NBA's leading scorer was held to a 22.7-point average in the first three games. Serge Ibaka added nine points and eight rebounds for the Thunder, who have turned around the series since he returned from an injury that was expected to keep him out for the rest of the post-season.

Boris Diaw had 14 points and 10 rebounds, and Tony Parker added 14 points for the Spurs, who blew a 2-0 lead against the Thunder in this round two years ago and are in danger of doing it again.

Oklahoma City dominated for the second consecutive game after getting blown out in the first two. The Thunder committed just seven turnovers and shot 49 per cent from the field.

Li Na bows out in the first round

Much to her dismay, Li Na is familiar with this feeling.

She earns a Grand Slam championship, is heralded at home, then shows up at subsequent major tournaments and seemingly forgets how to win.

Happened in 2011, after her French Open triumph made her China's first player with a Grand Slam singles title. Happened again Tuesday, when Li was seeded second at Roland Garros but lost to someone ranked 103rd in the first round, not quite four months removed from winning the Australian Open.

"I didn't follow the game plan," Li said after losing 7-5, 3-6, 6-1 against Kristina Mladenovic of France. "Didn't have any idea how to play."

The stunning loss came about 16 hours after the men's Australian Open champion, third-seeded Stan Wawrinka, was beaten in Paris. It's the first time that the men's and women's singles champions from the previous major lost in the first round. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

MLB. Jays' power display makes it 8 straight wins

The Blue Jays belted three homers and Mark Buehrle picked up his major-league-leading ninth win as Toronto extended its winning streak to eight games Tuesday with a 9-6 victory over the Tampa Bay Rays.

Adam Lind, Edwin Encarnacion and Juan Francisco homered for the American League East-leading Blue Jays, who had 13 hits on the night. Buehrle (9-1) allowed eight hits and three earned runs over 6 2/3 innings.

Lind and Encarnacion hit back-to-back shots in Toronto's four-run fifth inning. Lind hit a two-run blast and Encarnacion followed with his 16th homer of the season, giving him a share of the major-league lead with Baltimore's Nelson Cruz.

Encarnacion also tied Jose Bautista's club record of 14 homers in a month, set back in June 2012.

Francisco added a solo shot in the seventh inning and Casey Janssen worked the ninth for his eighth save as Tampa Bay (23-30) lost its second straight game. Toronto (31-22) will go for the sweep of the three-game series on Wednesday night. THE CANADIAN PRESS

In every episode of Jerry Seinfeld's online show, Comedians In Cars Getting Coffee, he picks up a well-known comic in a classic car chosen to mesh with their personality. The series' strongest episodes are the ones where Jerry's automotive sommelier skills have managed to orchestrate the perfect pairing, and the selected set of wheels truly embodies his celeb guest's spirit.

Howard Stern
1969 Pontiac GTO Judge

The badass showy muscle car with hideaway headlights, a blacked out grille and a take-no-prisoners four barrel 370 hp V8 is a fitting chariot for the shock jock/America's Got Talent hotshot.

Its "All Rise" mentality suits the randy radio host to a tee; the only thing Seinfeld messed up was the colour. A starlight black version would have been a better fit than the vivid citrus orange, but at least it's got a black leather interior.

5

Comedians in Cars Getting Coffee guest stars and their on-air wheels

Louis C.K.
1959 Fiat Jolly

Jolly translates to "Joker" in Italian and you certainly need a sense of whimsy to take this doorless leisure buggy with wicker seats and a two-cylinder 22 hp engine for a spin. They were actually marketed as a glamorous golf cart or yachting shore rider for when in port.

The excruciatingly honest comedian who writes/acts/stars in FX's Louie can't help but take potshots at the car that is the same shade of orange as his goatee. After remarking that he can drag his knuckles on the street while they drive, he notes, "It's funny because people are right there, there's a bicyclist and my face is at his ass level." Schtick aside, C.K.'s ties to the Jolly go beyond colour matching: he is actually a yacht guy and he takes Seinfeld for a cruise on the Hudson River.

Jay Leno
1949 Porsche 356/2

One of the first production cars the company produced, this stunning Porsche was built using mostly Volkswagen parts. The aluminum body was hand-hammered in a sawmill in Gmünd, Austria and the interior came decked out with plush corduroy upholstery.

The rare classic is as regal as the ex-Tonight Show host's chin and only 52 were ever made. "I love it because to me it looks like a little alien flying saucer," Jerry quips, talking about the Porsche, not his passenger's plus-sized mandible.

Patton Oswalt
1981 DeLorean DMC-12

The DeLorean is the Dontrelle Willis of automobiles: It came out with a flash bang, but flamed out so fast you can't help but wonder what could have been. Known for its starring turn as the time machine in Back to the Future, the gull-wing doors and unpainted stainless steel body certainly looked the part.

Performance-wise though, it left a lot to be desired, and on the episode it barely leaves Oswalt's curb before breaking down with smoke billowing out of the engine echoing Oswalt's start and stall career. But the endearing and persevering comic who voiced Remy on Ratatouille is also an early tech adopter, saving the comedians' coffee run by hailing a ride with Uber.

Bob Einstein
1970 Mercedes 300SEL 6.3

The bold stroke of genius here was to take a massive, powerful, luxe limo engine, a V8 cranking out 300-hp, and figure out how to cram it into a much smaller and lighter S-class to turn it into a super sedan.

This is exactly the kind of shenanigan that Einstein's character Super Dave Osborne, the world's foremost faux daredevil, would pull if he were to engineer a car. Of course the end result would be that same engine falling through the subframe and bonking him on his head.

Keeping cool this summer

Hot rides. Simple maintenance can help keep things cool on the road this summer. Your vehicle, and riders, will thank you.

drive@metronews.ca

For us humans, the hot weather is one of the most eagerly anticipated parts of the summer season — but for our vehicles, that lovely heat means additional strain on vital components every time we hit the road with the family.

Poorly maintained parts tend to show themselves when vehicles are pushed to extremes.

As such, a sweltering summer day is a fantastic time for overheating, drive-line failure or engine damage, if your cooling system isn't performing properly. Fortunately, readying your cooling system for warm-weather travelling is a relatively quick and painless endeavour.

In addition to keeping your engine running at its ideal operating temperature, your cooling system may play a part in keeping other components, like your transmission, from overheating as well.

Your cooling system works by circulating coolant throughout the engine to absorb and remove the tremendous heat generated by its operation.

Over time, the effectiveness of that coolant diminishes, and a coolant change is required.

This occurs in varying intervals for different vehicles, or on an 'as-needed' basis as advised by your mechanic.

A proper cooling system check should include a look at coolant level and effectiveness, the thermostat and the water-pump belt, if applicable.

The radiator and associated hoses and lines should be inspected as well, and a visual check for leaks is also important. A periodic radiator flush is also advisable to remove harmful sludge from within the cooling system. Sludge may accumulate within the radiator and hoses over time, reducing effectiveness and component life.

Put another way, a coolant flush ensures everything is functioning properly, from the inside out.

Protecting your engine from the heat this summer is only half the battle. You'll want to ensure you and your passengers benefit from an effective air conditioning system, too.

If your AC seems hesitant to blow cold, or if it isn't cooling the cabin as quickly as it used to, an inspection is in order. This inspection can often reveal a small problem before it escalates into a much larger and pricier one.

If you're uncomfortable performing vehicle-related work yourself, your favourite mechanic would be happy to help.

Most cooling and air-conditioning maintenance can be carried out quickly the next time your vehicle is in the shop for an oil-change or tune up.

Need a parking spot? You won't find one in the newest condo building

Change in car culture. 42-storey condo first in Toronto to go "no parking," leading national trend

AUTO PILOT
Mike Goetz
drive@metronews.ca

Another mile marker on the way to big change in automotive culture is a new and soaring 42-floor condominium structure on University Avenue in Toronto.

It offers lots of amenities, a nice selection of counter tops and bathroom tile, a snazzy foyer, but nothing resembling a parking garage.

There are only nine parking spots and those are reserved for a car-share program.

It might be the first new-build condominium in the country to offer "no parking" for all, but it won't be the last.

Municipalities have always enacted bylaws that stipulate how much parking had to be included in new developments. In downtown Toronto, for example, the requirement is 0.6 parking spots per unit. In other areas it could be as high as two spots per unit.

But the pressure is on to get rid of these parking requirements.

To go "no parking," this Toronto condo had to receive special approval from city council. In Calgary, officials are seriously considering green-lighting a condo tower with similar car-free ideals. And in Vancouver, they are moving toward new zoning that would allow developers to make their own calls about whether or not to put parking stalls in their buildings.

"This is the way we're headed," says Christopher Hume, the Toronto Star's architecture and urban affairs critic. "The people who live in these condos don't need or want a car. They choose these apartments and neighbourhoods so they don't have to go through the whole hassle of buying and operating a car."

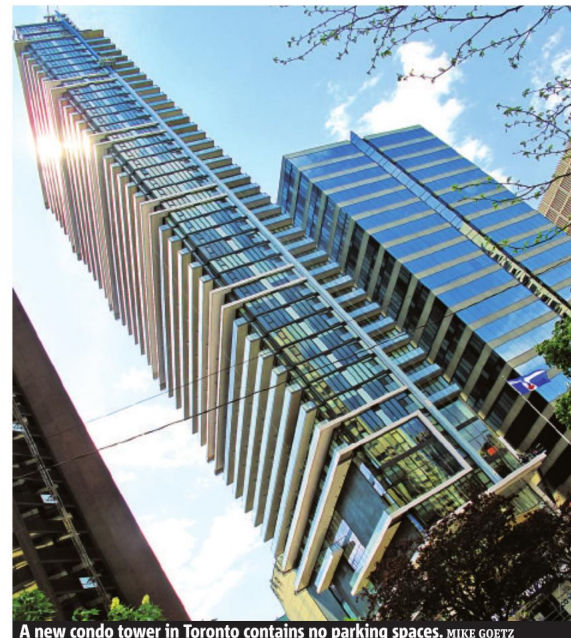

Like we spoke about previously in this space, there is a young demographic out there which does not share the previous generations' drive for car ownership and car culture. That mindset is now making an impact on building design.

Throw in the growing popularity of such things as car sharing, Uber taxi, bicycling, and the pressure of land use in the city, and it's not hard to see why parking garages might become rarities in more and more urban neighbourhoods in the coming years. Hume adds that architects in the city are even contemplating a future where current underground garages might be re-purposed for other activities, such as studio space and light manufacturing.

As they are currently, parking garages are awful spaces.

Usually I feel nostalgic about anything car related going away. But a dank, filthy, underused underground garage somewhere downtown is not one of them. And I would say that even if I didn't get routinely lost in them. Just for the record, I think "exit" should mean "exit," and not, "go around in a circle a few more times, than try a left ... or right."

A new condo tower in Toronto contains no parking spaces. MIKE GOETZ

Spanish brand Bultaco bets on all-electric bike

Rapitan. Battery has range of up to 200 kilometres per charge

The Spanish motorcycle manufacturer Bultaco, which went out of business in the early 1980s, is back in the news following the introduction of the Rapitan, a new all-electric ride slated to go on sale in 2015.

The news echoes the spectacular return of the French brand Voxan last December with its Wattman, which is also due to hit the market in 2015.

In the hopes of resurrecting the Bultaco name, the successors to founder Paco Bulto are focusing their efforts on an all-electric model. The Rapitan packs an electric motor with 40 kW, or the equivalent of 55 hp. While its top speed is limited to 145 km/h, the manufacturer says the motorcycle can accelerate from 0 to 100 km/h in a mere four seconds.

The battery, which recharges fully in less than five hours, has a range of up to 200 km per charge. Presented as a prototype, the Bultaco Rapitan is scheduled to hit the market in 2015.

This is not the first time that a brand has risen from its ashes with an all-electric motorcycle. In December 2013, French manufacturer Voxan, which was liquidated in 2009 and purchased by Venturi in 2010, returned to the scene with the Wattman, an all-electric motorcycle symbolizing its rebirth.

Powered by an engine with 200 hp — making it the world's most powerful electric motorcycle, according to Voxan — the Wattman boasts a top speed of 170 km/h, 0 to 100 km/h acceleration in just 3.4 seconds and 0 to 160 km/h in 5.9 seconds. The battery offers a range of around 180 km. Like the Rapitan, this powerful all-electric ride will not go on sale to the public until 2015. AFP

Horoscopes

Aries

March 21 - April 20

Be as carefree as you please over the next 24 hours. No one will mind in the least. Not that you care what others think but it's nice to have fun without being called irresponsible.

Taurus

April 21 - May 21

You must hold out for what it is you know you deserve. The planets indicate it will be your rivals who blink first, so look and act tough and be tough in your approach to negotiations.

Gemini

May 22 - June 21

A new moon in your sign suggests whatever you start over the next 24 hours will work out well. Don't listen to those who say you should be cautious. It's your time to shine.

Cancer

June 22 - July 23

Because today's new moon falls in the most sensitive area of your chart, your best course of action over the next 48 hours is to withdraw from the world for. Start planning for the coming 12 months. They'll be special.

Leo

July 24 - Aug. 23

If you need advice of any sort today, don't be afraid to ask your friends. The current new moon means they will help in any way they can, but you need to ask them first. They won't just offer their opinions.

Virgo

Aug. 24 - Sept. 23

A new moon in the career area of your chart will give you the courage to make necessary changes on the work front. It's your life, it's your career and it's your choice as to what you do with them both.

Libra

Sept. 24 - Oct. 23

You have a lot to say for yourself and most of it is worth listening to, but be careful you don't say anything that might upset people whose support you are going to need.

Scorpio

Oct. 24 - Nov. 22

If you have been thinking of ways to make money, now is the time to come to a decision about your strategy. What you start over the next few days will reap rich rewards during the second half of the year.

Sagittarius

Nov. 23 - Dec. 21

It may be that your rivals have the advantage but what happens today and tomorrow will give you the courage, as well as the opportunity, to turn the tables on them.

Capricorn

Dec. 22 - Jan. 20

Keep doing what you are doing and don't listen to those who say you should be doing something else. The more they try to pick holes in your plans, the more certain you can be that you're on the right track.

Aquarius

Jan. 21 - Feb. 19

Today's new moon in your fellow Air sign of Gemini will inspire you to put your talents to good use. Relationships will go well too, so be assertive and dynamic and make sure others know what it is you desire.

Pisces

Feb. 20 - March 20

Be more open about your feelings, especially if you are the kind of Pisces who tends to keep your emotions bottled up inside. It is good to release the pressure. SALLY BROMPTON
